

Judy L. Morgan DVM, CVCP, CVA, CVFT
17 Forsythia Lane
Pilesgrove, NJ 08098
609-202-0999
Judy_Leigh_0603@yahoo.com

Graduated from Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Science in 1980, received a Bachelor of Science in Veterinary Medicine from the University of Illinois in 1982, and Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine from the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine in 1984.

Earned certification for Veterinary Orthopedic Manipulation, a form of veterinary Chiropractic, in 1995; earned certifications for Acupuncture and Food Therapy from the Chi Institute of Traditional Chinese Veterinary Medicine. In 2008 traveled to China to study acupuncture and food therapy with the masters.

Member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Southern New Jersey Veterinary Medical Association, American Academy of Veterinary Acupuncture, International Veterinary Acupuncture Society, Botanical Veterinary Medical Association, American Academy of Traditional Chinese Veterinary Medicine, and American Holistic Veterinary Medical Association.

Public speaking and presentations at local and national continuing education venues. Invited to speak at the National Pointer Specialty in Ohio, World of Pets Expos in Virginia and Maryland, the National Pet Expo in Pennsylvania, and many other venues.

Dr. Morgan has a series of youtube videos that teach pet owners how to read pet food labels and how to use food as healing therapy for animals. Featured on Radio Pet Lady Network interview. Featured in Veterinary Product News for work in holistic veterinary medicine.

Dr. Morgan published her book "From Needles to Natural: Learning Holistic Pet Healing" in 2014. In the book she shares her journey from traditional to holistic veterinary medicine to show pet owners the differences between marketing ploys and actual good health. She dispels myths about traditional pet care and teaches pet owners the benefits of feeding and treating an animal holistically. Her second book which features recipes for home cooking for dogs will be available in early 2015.

In her spare time, Dr. Morgan can be found riding horses or walking on the beach with Hue Grant. Together they are very active in Cavalier King Charles Spaniel and English Toy Spaniel rescue, transporting, fostering and providing tender loving care to abandoned, neglected, and abused animals. For more information on programs available at Clayton and Churchtown Veterinarian Associates, please visit www.claytonvetnj.com or call 856-881-7470